

InTheMix

Double Issue

Spring 2009

InTheMix

Editor in Chief

Victoria Sanchez

Managing Editor

Zahra Bhaiwala

Associate Editors

Chase Ebert

Pat Woolsey

Layout Editor

Alicia Keyes

Layout Associate

Kaki Elgin

Business Manager

John Chapman

Publicity Manager

Peter Ly

Associate Writers

Eamon Callison

Hanna Gully

Distribution

Emily Hutcheson-Tipton

Contents

Letter From the Editor	by Victoria Sanchez	5
Reports
Identity Politics	by Hanna Gully	6
WHAT Did You Say?!	by Jane Thomas	8
Brace Research	by Elizabeth Patiño	13
Around Andover
Mosaic: Proud Parent	by Breet Achin	16
Alianza Latina	by Elizabeth Patiño	18
Photo Essay
Dear Diary: Visions in an Art Gallery	by Mandisa Mjamba	20
Coloured Only	by Mandisa Mjamba	22
Student Reflections
On Stereotypes	by Demetrius Lalanne	25
On Religion	by Jennifer Chew	27
Iroquois Nationals	by Forrest Cox	30
Coconut	by Victoria Sanchez	32
Legacy of MLK	by Patrick Woolsey	34
Alternative Spring Break, South Carolina	by Lynx Mitchell	36
The Loi Krathong Festival	by Varistha Ngaocharoenchitr	38
Observations on Pakistani Culture	by Aazim Jafarey	41
SYA Spain	by Joel Gonzalez	44

Letter From the Editor

In light of all that has happened with In the Mix this year, my first reaction to this double issue's completion is: Phew! My next reaction is pride. We had many setbacks and struggles, but this issue contains many thoughtful articles by students who have very diverse backgrounds. They are already bettering our world, and they will continue to do so. As one of the senior pages in the 2008-2009 yearbook read, "True terror is to wake up one morning and discover that your high school class is running the country.' I can't wait."

To all of our subscribers, I must express my utmost gratitude to you on two accounts. First, for subscribing, and second, for your patience!

Lastly, a most heartfelt thank you goes to our faculty advisor, Ms. Curci, for being so helpful, involved, and for occasionally giving me a needed kick in the butt.

Happy Reading!

Victoria Sanchez