A Summer of Great Books and Big Ideas

READ
THINK
DISCUSS

On the campuses of Amherst, Stanford and Oxford

This summer outstanding young people will gather to read great literature, discuss with professors and explore big ideas through college style-seminars.

The Great Books Summer Program brings together exceptional high school students from across the world to read, discuss and debate selections from the greatest works of literature. Using the Socratic Method, students explore texts by Plato, Shakespeare, Dante, Jefferson, Dickinson, Borges and many others. Led by distinguished faculty, students gain confidence in their own ideas in a community of young readers.

One week and multi-week sessions in residence at Amherst College, Stanford University and the University of Oxford. Students also enjoy creative arts electives and guest speakers. Previous guests: Doris Kearns Goodwin, Chris Columbus, Jodi Picoult and Jane Smiley.

This is a unique opportunity for gifted young people to discover their own best thinking, taste the college experience and make friendships that will last a lifetime.

Enrollment now in progress for Summer 2015.

SPEND YOUR SUMMER IN ROME

All programs include excursions to evening cultural events around the city of Rome, and weekend overnight trips to places such as Sorrento and Pompeii.

Summer at St. Stephen’s - 2015 Programs

Generations at St. Stephen’s
- June 14 - 27
- Students 12 – 19 years of age and older family members

Generations at St. Stephen’s is a special two-week summer experience for grandparents and their grandchildren that allows them to experience the Eternal City together through mini-classes on ancient and Renaissance Rome held on-site at significant monuments, museums and churches throughout the city, special tours, and art courses.

The Arts & Humanities Program
- June 28 - July 11
- Students 13 to 18 years of age

Encouraging a harmonious balance of intellect and creativity, the Arts & Humanities Summer Program at St. Stephen’s School offers students the opportunity to explore both academically and artistically in a program tailored to their individual interests and talents. Students in this program are enrolled in one core course (either Renaissance Art in Rome or Ancient Rome), a language class (either Italian or Latin), and one or more elective courses, such as Drawing Rome, or Italian Music.

The American Institute for Roman Culture - St. Stephen’s School Pre-College Program
- July 19 - August 8
- Students 16 to 18 years of age

This three-week joint pre-college program fully immerses students in the study of Rome and Italy’s history and culture. The first week, students are involved in an intensive study of the ancient city of Rome. Weeks two and three include formal instruction in excavation techniques and an archaeological dig at Ostia Antica, the harbor city of ancient Rome.
